Detailed Action

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lee (published on June 5, 2003) in view of Pugh (2,085,809).

The Lee reference shows a spout assembly with a bottle cap (100) having a neck (fig.2), a cap body (206), an upwardly protruding nozzle (206) at the upper portion of the bottle cap (100), an outlet opening (202) at the edge portion of the nozzle (206) for dispensing liquid therefrom by titling the bottle (C), a closing lid (300) that is movable to close and open the outlet opening (202), a straw (204) located adjacent to the outlet opening (202) for drinking through the straw (204).

However the Lee reference lacks a straw being a telescope straw having a first straw portion and a second straw portion; with the second straw portion being axially movable and extending upwardly out of the nozzle.

Pugh teaches a container (1) in figure 2 through 4 with a telescopic straw having an outer straw (23) and an inner straw section (21) for the purpose of having the outer straw section (23) with an "collar (27) at the upper end of the container to prevent the outer straw section from being pulled upwardly out of the opening" (col.2, lines 6-8); and a inner straw section for sliding and extending out container for sipping purposes (col. 1, lines 71, 72; col. 2, lines 1,2,11-13,24-28). Further the inner straw section has a collar (25) for the purpose of gripping with the mouth and sipping purposes.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have modified the Lee bottle cap with a telescopic straw having inner and outer straw sections as taught by Pugh in order to have the telescopic straw be fixed in place and be able to move and extend, so consumers can place their mouth on straw when in use.

3. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lee (published on June 5, 2003) in view of Jarbeau (2,613,988).

The Lee reference discloses substantially all the features of the bottle cap arrangement; however lacks a telescope straw with the second straw having a radial thickened portion and the first straw having a waist at an upper end portion that bears against the thickened portion of the lower portion of the second straw.

Jarbeau teaches a beverage dispensing device in figure 3 where the second straw (9) has a radial thickened portion (see fig.1 for top of tube (9))<sup>1</sup> and the first straw (11) has a waist at an upper end portion (12) that bears against the thickened portion (10) of the lower portion of the second straw for the purpose of "restraining from becoming separated from one another" (col. 2,lines 14&15).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have modified the Lee bottle cap with a telescope straw having a thickened radial portion on the lower end of the first straw as taught by Jarbeau in order to secure the first and second straw portions together and preventing the two portions from coming apart.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 3-6,8-13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
5. Claim 7 is allowed.
6. Claims 14-18 cancelled.

Response to Amendment

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-13 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
